

Baraka in “The Manchurian Candidate”

“The Manchurian Candidate” by Paramount Pictures, 2004, starring Denzel Washington, Leiv Schreiber, and Meryl Streep. Baraka played in the critical scene used throughout the movie as Denzel’s and Leiv’s “dream sequence.” Baraka was one of the eerie black-clad women who haunted the dream. Clockwise starting top left:

- A close up of Baraka’s face.
- A group shot of the black-clad women zaghareeting. Baraka is the second from the left in the back row.
- Baraka on set.
- Baraka with film director and producer Jonathan Demme
- Baraka back stage with a few soldiers.

